Share Only What AI Needs

Give useful context without sharing unnecessary personal details.

USUALLY FINE

Interests, goals, preferences, and broad details about the situation. Include what helps AI understand the job.

ONLY WHEN NEEDED

Health, medication, family situations, grades, income, expenses, or debt. Keep details general whenever possible and include only what the task needs.

KEEP OUT

Passwords, security codes, account numbers, identification numbers, home addresses, and other people's private information.

BEFORE ATTACHING A FILE OR IMAGE

Check the whole item, including names, background details, notifications, and unrelated pages. Crop or remove what the task does not need, then check the edited copy. For homework help, share the problem without student names, school details, or private information elsewhere in the photo. You can type the relevant information instead.

ASK BEFORE SENDING

What does AI actually need for this task? Can I remove a detail or describe it more generally and still get useful help?

WHY THIS MATTERS

An AI chat is a record sent to an outside system. It may stay in your account, be read by people at the AI company, be handed over if the law requires it, or be seen by someone who gets into your device or account.

IF YOU ALREADY SHARED IT

Delete the chat from your history. This removes it from the app's visible history, but a copy may remain in the AI company's systems for a period of time. Each app has its own deletion policy.

Shared a password or security code? Deleting the chat is not enough. Change any passwords or security codes you shared.

You meant to share the task. Check everything you send.

© 2026 Nate O'Brien and Luke O'Brien. All rights reserved.